SUBJECT: 2020 Reclamation Surety Costs for Exploration and Small Mining Operations Including Small Mine Three- and Five-Year Escalation

Rule R647-3-111.3.13 allows the Division to calculate the required surety for a small mining operation using the average dollars per acre costs for reclamation of similar operations as determined by the Division based upon approved surety amounts for current large mining operations. These average costs must be approved by the Board of Oil, Gas and Mining. This memorandum details the amounts recommended to the Board for the average costs to be used for small mines and exploration projects.

Small mine sites are areas with 10 or fewer acres of disturbance in unincorporated areas or five or fewer acres in incorporated areas. For the purpose of calculating the cost per acre, the Division assumes there are no structures, that earthwork and revegetation will be required for each site, and earthwork and revegetation will be conducted at the same time, not in separate operations.

If a site has structures, including vent shafts or portals, the cost of structure removal will be calculated as a line item. Sites with unusual features, such as large underground openings, are calculated based on information from vendors and other sources, such as the Abandoned Mine Land Reclamation program.

For mine sites with five or fewer acres, the Division assumes that all reclamation work can be accomplished with an excavator and a pickup truck for support. For sites larger than five acres but smaller than ten acres, the Division assumes reclamation will require an excavator and a D-8 bulldozer with a pickup truck for support.

For sites that have received partial bond release for earthwork the Division assumes that surface preparation will be needed.

The reclamation cost estimates are escalated three or five years into the future for small mines using five years of the Average Means Historical Cost Index for Site Construction, National Average. Costs for exploration projects are escalated one year into the future then re-evaluated if an operator requests an extension for the project.

In the past the Division assumed a 150-mile mobilization/demobilization cost. Beginning in 2014, the Division has allowed the mob/demob cost to be decreased to a minimum of 50 miles (if there are at least three contractors that could conduct reclamation based within 50 miles of the site). The mob/demob costs should be increased as shown in the tables if the haul distance is greater than 50 miles.
